Journey Overview

AIR-CRUISE | Featuring the M/V Ocean Nova & Aircraft BAE-146 Punta Arenas, Chile to Antarctica

Jumping over Cape Horn and the mythical waters of the Drake Passage, ANTARCTICA XXI invites you to join a truly unique experience that takes you to the continent of Antarctica – one of the most remote places on earth – the coldest, highest, windiest, driest and most inhospitable. This is truly an adventure of great magnitude. On this voyage you fly to King George Island in a high wing aircraft the BAE-146 before sailing the M/V Ocean Nova, a modern vessel with the capacity to accommodate 68 passengers in comfortable outside single, twin and triple cabins, all with private facilities. In addition to a glass enclosed observation lounge and presentation room, a spacious dining room, bar and library, the M/V Ocean Nova has an infirmary and an exercise room. See this amazing continent come to life in ways you've never imagined.
